

Constance Leach

I was born in London. Between 1975 and 1984 I lived and worked in Western and South Australia as a secondary school English teacher. On my return to the UK, I taught in London, moving to Winchester in 1991. I arrived in Oliver's Battery in 2002 with my mother, whom I cared for until her death in 2008. I joined the Parish Council in 2013, wanting to become more actively involved with the community. I led the Core Group for the Oliver's Battery Plan until its publication in 2018. My current PC focus remains communication, and the preservation of the beautiful countryside that surrounds us.
