

Sustainability Report – December 2023

Now the weather is cold enough we are starting to use the thermal camera.

Jo, James and Clare will be doing the first survey of the season, providing it is not raining.

Other news is as reported in the newsletter.

However, Claire Morgan continues to gather information about hedgehogs.

The wildflower meadow on the corner of the battery has been scythed and left for the winter. The ditches there have been well strimmed too which is pleasing.
